Nervous Prostration

Cured by Dr. Miles' Nerve.

Prolonged derangement of the nervous system not only affects the brain and mental powers, but develops disease in some of the vital organs. The most dangerous of these is prostration. This was the case of the Rev. N. F. Sartore, Fawn River, Mich., who writes under date of Feb. 14, 1895:

"Fourteen years ago I had a slight stroke of paralysis. Overwork brought on nervous prostration. I was exceedingly nervous and the exertion of public speaking caused heart palpitation that threatened my life. I used two bottles of Dr. Miles' Nerve Cure for my heart trouble, and two of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve for my nervousness and feel better than I ever expected to feel again. I can speak for hours without tiring or having my heart flutter as it formerly did, and I have you to thank that I am alive today."

No Air, No Life.

Pneumonia suffocates, because the swollen tubes get solid, and keep air from the lungs. Dr. Acker's English Remedy reduces the inflammation, so the patient breathes freely, and is soon well.

Miss R. Ray, 354 W. 22d St., N.Y., says: "When threatened with pneumonia, I took one bottle of Dr. Acker's English Remedy, and the pain and cough disappeared."

ASSIST NATURE

Flowers Perfumed by Artificial Means in Paris.

AN INGENIOUS DEVICE USED

That Corrects the Mistakes of Nature—Perfumes Can Now be Purchased at the Perfumers and Applied as Will. The Same Plan Applied to Trees Causes a Change in the Flower's Scent.

To artfully perfume flowers is the latest fad in Paris, says the New York World. It has been found possible not only to take away from a flower the odor given to it by nature, but actually make it yield a perfume derived from some other vegetable product.

There are, for instance, certain violets with little or no odor, but very beautiful, as to form, while there are others that are poor to look upon, but very rich in perfume. The transfer of the odor from one species to the other has been successfully performed in Paris.

Again, the African marigold, which is a handsome flower, has been robbed of its evil odors and given a perfume that makes it really valuable and delicious. This fad for perfuming flowers has even been pushed to the absurd length of imparting the odor of the rose to the sunflower, while chrysanthemums have been made to smell like the violet.

A. M. Villon, of Paris, is the gentleman who has brought this system to perfection. He has invented a machine for perfuming flowers which has worked some of these recent Parisian marvels.

According to the method pursued by M. Villon, the flowers are placed in a box, the interior of which has been cooled with ice. Lending into this box is a pipe, with holes bored in it.

Through this pipe a current of carbonic acid gas perfumed with the desired odor is sent. This current is produced by the evaporation of the liquid carbonic acid, which is passed through a "worm" like that used in distilling whiskey. The heated carbonic bubbles up through a mass of the essential oil containing the perfume, and takes on the properties of the odor, which is then imparted to the flowers in the box.

This machine is most commonly used in strengthening the natural perfume of certain flowers, like violets and roses. In this way an intense perfume is obtained, which will last for many days. When it is desired to first rob a flower of its natural odor before giving it that of some other flower, it is steeped in bromated water and then washed. In the case of the African marigold, which was robbed of its smell, the seeds were first allowed to soak for two days in rose water containing a little alkali. They were then partially dried and sown.

The flowers that grow in time were not entirely deprived of their bad odor, but one was able to detect, mingled with the original smell, the agreeable odor of the rose and the musk. The seeds of these plants being again sown after similar treatment, it was found that there was a still further improvement.

In this way it is claimed that African marigolds have been produced, which in odor rival the jasmine and the violet. It has also been found that to constantly water flowers with a dilution of musk imparts the perfume to the flowers.

Even trees, it is claimed, can be treated in a somewhat similar manner. A hole is bored in the trunk before the sap rises. This hole runs downward. Into the hole is poured a thick liquid containing the odor which it is desired to impart to the tree.

Perfumes are also imparted to flowers by pouring over them an alcoholic solution of the essential oil of the desired perfume. This is practiced in Paris on a large scale on violets, roses and hawthorn. Glycerine is added to fix the odor.

The perfumes for flowers may be bought in Paris, where they are put up in neat packages prepared by the leading perfumers. M. Villon says that a good violet should be composed of 100 grammes of alcohol, 100 grammes of glycerine and ten grammes of essential oil of violet. Geranioline is a similar preparation, in which the essential oil of violet is replaced by geraniol.

AMUSEMENTS.

Attractions, Past and Present, at the Theatres and Other Resorts.

There is a movement on foot to have the Chicago Music band stop in Wheeling on its way east for at least one concert, and it is to be hoped that the efforts of those interested may be successful. As was stated a few days ago, the celebrated musical organization will open a 100 days' engagement at Philadelphia on May 30th, and will probably play in a few cities enroute. A number of musical people of this city are negotiating with Manager Howard Pew to have the band stop here and although they will have to guarantee a large sum, there are prospects that Wheeling will be favored by the visit from what is known to be the peer of all big bands.

The Grand opera house will present to its patrons on Monday, the 20th, "The Midnight Special," the great melodramatic success in four acts. In commenting on it the Wheeling Daily News Dealer says: "The stage settings and mechanical effects, especially the second act, in which is seen railroad trains with passengers and freight dashing in and out of the railroad station, is one of the most realistic scenes we have ever seen, the burning of the telegraph station and the rescue of Jack, which happens just in time to save him from being crushed to death by the wheels of the 'Midnight Special,' makes one of the strongest climaxes of realism that was ever produced on any stage. The cast is in the hands of a well-balanced company, embracing such artists as George Paxton, the rising young American actor; Lillian Longmore, Rosetta Worrell, T. E. De Fow, Hugo Gerber, Charles Lambert and James Jackson.

The announcement of the production of "Darkest Russia" created quite a stir when the Russian naval ships were in New York harbor. Vice Admiral Kaznakoff, of the flagship Dimitri Donoskoff, tried to have a protest entered against the Russian players, claiming it a slander on the Russian government. The vice admiral evidently forgot that the stage was one of the free institutions of America and not under the ban of censors like his own country. The United States government, as expected, took no notice of the demand to have the play stopped. "Darkest Russia" will be the attraction at the Opera House Tuesday evening, April 21st. The play is a most interesting one and shows realistic pictures of Russian life.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Money on call closed easy at 2½ to 3½ per cent; last loan 3 per cent; closed at 3 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 5½ to 6½ per cent. Sterling exchange dull and easier with actual business in bankers' bills at $4 38½ to 4 39 for demand and $4 37½ to 4 38 for 60 days; posted rates $4 39 and $4 38½ to 4 40; commercial bills $4 37 to $4 38. Silver certificates 67½ to 68½.

Although the volume of business in stocks to-day was not large, the undertone was strong throughout and the character of the dealings was improved by a further increase in dealings by commission houses. The upward movement resulted in the covering of a considerable amount and many bear stock loss orders were reached. The trading in the general market embraced a number of the usual inactive shares. London was alternately a buyer and a seller of stocks in this market and also purchased our bonds to moderate extent. Fluctuations occurred in leading shares, but were mainly fractional. The closing was steady, with irregular fractional net changes in the active list.

Bonds were active and strong on sales of $2,462,000. Governments ruled strong on purchases of $112,000. Important changes were noted in state issues on sales of $61,500. The total sales of stocks to-day were 187,409 shares.

Evening Post's London financial cablegram: "The improvement on the stock exchange continues but home rails which are booming, closed below the best. Consols sold at 111. Americans closed at the best. The Paris and Berlin markets were firm and a trifle more active."
